17. Next I'm going to read some statements describing reasons that some people give for why it is important that we enact policies and make changes to address the problems of housing affordability that many families are dealing with. For each statement I read, please tell me how important a reason it is to take action to address the problems of housing affordability--is it a very important reason, fairly important reason, just somewhat important reason, or not an important reason?

Investing in affordable, quality housing is investing in kids and their future. Research shows that children whose parents spend less than a third of their income on housing are more likely to be healthy at birth, have enough food to eat as they grow up, and to do well in school. And their parents are able to spend on activities that improve their children's mental and physical development						[230]
National	70	12	12	5	1
City of Chicago	75	14	6	2	3
Chicago suburbs	66	20	7	4	3
Families need affordable, quality housing in order for their members to be healthy, contributing members of their community. Unstable, poor quality housing situations and frequent moves make it difficult for adults to secure and maintain jobs, and can take a negative toll on their physical and mental health						[231]

City of Chicago	72	13	10	3	2
Chicago suburbs	62	17	14	3	4
When individuals with chronic health issues have stable, affordable homes it reduces the need for all kinds of services. Providing seniors and homeless individuals with stable and affordable housing can reduce emergency room visits, nursing home stays, and other supportive services. This saves valuable tax dollars						[232]
National	62	15	16	5	2

The problem of economic and racial segregation has gotten worse in recent decades, trapping low-income families in neighborhoods with high rates of poverty and crime and low performing schools. We need policies that allow all people to live in neighborhoods that provide opportunity and encourage upward mobility for families and kids.						[229]

According to experts, the housing market is in full recovery, but the average American family is not feeling the recovery. In communities throughout the country, home sales and rental prices are increasing at a much faster rate than wages and incomes. Nearly forty million households in America spend more than thirty percent of their income on housing						[234]

Families and communities need stability in the housing market. Major price increases or big drops in housing values have an enormous impact on the economy overall and can upend the lives of hardworking Americans. We need policies that ensure the health and stability of the housing market						[228]
